Testimonials

My son has a disability that makes handwriting difficult. Each week he must make notecards for new vocabulary words and every 2 weeks make a study guide or practice test. Your software has made it possible for him to complete these assignments independently. If he had to do them by hand or of his own design on the computer it would take him hours. He is in regular classes and is bright as anything. Thank you for helping him shine. ...he reformats them, prints them out on label paper and sticks them onto index cards which works quite well.

Disabled Student's Mother
Peggy Conner

Study X is undoubtedly the No 1 study software in the world. I strongly recommend it to everyone who really wants to improve their grades.

Blessan Pandian
Student in India

Study X has proved helpful to our students... who like to work with computers and are easily bored by routine activities. While we all know that it takes numerous repetitions to learn new terms and information, many students don't have the patience to make the cards that have long been the most common method used to achieve this goal.

The sheer act of entering the terms and definitions as well as questions and answers provides a number of repetitions. Then students learn painlessly because they find that "playing Study X games are much more interesting than going over and over boring cards." Because students are mastering computer skills at earlier ages, Study X should prove beneficial to students from the second grade through college.
